II. Geodesist's Handbook

Quadrennial special issues of Journal of Geodesy, published since 1980, contain the programs of the IAG Components; latest 2008, 2012. A list of all Geodesist's Handbooks published up to now can be found on the reverse side of the foreword in this issue.

III. IAG Symposia Series

Peer reviewed proceedings of IAG Symposia. Latest issues:

Vol. 132: Xu, P., Liu, J., Dermanis, A. (Eds.): VI Hotine-Marussi Symposium on Theoretical and Computational Geodesy, Wuhan, China, 2006.

Vol. 133: Sideris, M. G. (Ed.): Observing our Changing Earth. IAG Symposia at the XXIV General Assembly of the IUGG, Perugia, Italy, 2007.

Vol. 134: Drewes, H. (Ed.): Geodetic Reference Frames. IAG Symposium Munich, Germany, 2006.

Vol. 135: Mertikas, S. P. (Ed.): Gravity, Geoid and Earth Observation. IAG Commission 2 Symposium, Chania, Crete, Greece, 2008.

Vol. 136: Kenyon, S., Pacino, M. C., Marti, U. (Eds.): Geodesy for Planet Earth. Symposia at the IAG Scientific Assembly, Buenos Aires, Argentina, 2009.

Vol. 137: Sneeuw, N., Novák, P., Crespi, M., Sansò, F. (Eds.): VII Hotine-Marussi Symposium on Mathematical Geodesy, Rome, 2009.

IV. Travaux de l'Association Internationale de Géodésie (IAG Reports)

The IAG Reports (Travaux de l'Association Internationale de Géodésie) contain the reports of all IAG components and sub-components. They were published as printed volumes and presented at the IAG General and Scientific Assemblies every two years until 2003. Since 1995 the IAG Reports are also available in digital form, and since 2003 online only: (http://www.iag-aig.org/index.php?tpl=cat&id_c=18 or <http://iag.dgfi.badw.de/index.php?id=294>). Printed versions may be ordered at the IAG Office (iag@dgfi.badw.de)

V. IAG Bibliographic Service (IBS)

The IAG Bibliographic Service for Geodesy is maintained by the Bundesamt für Kartographie und Geodäsie (BKG)
